

5th Edition Blue Book of GUITAR AMPLIFIERS

Publisher's Note: This book is the result of nonstop and continual guitar amplifier research obtained by attending guitar shows, communicating with dealers and collectors throughout the country each year, following the marketplace through want ads and web sites, and staying on top of trends as they occur. This book represents an analysis of prices for which both recently manufactured and collectible amplifiers have actually been selling for during that period at an average retail level.

Although every reasonable effort has been made to compile an accurate and reliable guide, guitar amplifier prices may vary significantly depending on such factors as the locality of the sale, the number of sales we were able to consider, famous musician endorsement of certain makes/models, regional economic conditions, and other critical factors.

Accordingly, no representation can be made that the guitar amplifiers listed may be bought or sold at prices indicated, nor shall the editor or publisher be responsible for any error made in compiling and recording such values.

ABOUT THE COVER

Adorning the cover of this newest 5th Edition Blue Book of Guitar Amplifiers are both the front and back sides of a currently manufactured Supro Titan and an older, vintage Mesa Boogie MK-IIIB amplifier. The publisher would like to thank David Koltai from Supro Amps (www.suprousa.com) and Savage Audio (www.savageamps.com) for providing Blue Book Publications with these great cover images.
